The world is sleeping in the dark
That the church just can't fight
Cause it's asleep in the light
How can you be so dead
When you've been so well fed
Jesus rose from the grave
And you, you can't even get out of bed

Oh, Jesus rose from the dead
Come on, get out of your bed

Do You Have a Reason Or an Excuse?

Most pastors will readily admit that one of the reasons, if not the chief reasons, why Christianity today is failing or unable to have a tremendous impact for the cause of Christ is due to a neglect of the local church by those who claim to know the Lord. The fact is the majority of church members do not attend church anymore. It is all too common for a church to have two or three times as many members on the church roll than it has in attendance on a Sunday morning. They are indeed, as they have been aptly called, "the missing majority."

When you study the Scriptures concerning the New Testament church, you find out that this was not always the case. I am sure that each church had its share of shirkers who had their patented excuses for not attending but for the most part the majority of church members were present for the services. They believed it then, and most people today profess to believe that every saved, blood-bought child of God should attend church faithfully, on a regular basis; that they should never miss a church service unless providentially hindered. The problem though with today's church members is that they have confused the issue of having a reason as opposed to giving an excuse for not attending church. There is a vast difference between the two; a reason and an excuse. According to the Bible, there is no excuse for not attending church.
